OMD Consultancy Limited

Hi! I'm Orla, and I'm a digital creator.

My passion is helping small businesses use digital marketing to grow their sales, and I've been working with clients for over five years. My approach is always customised to your business, so you can rest assured that you're getting the best advice possible.

I love working with clients who:

- want to increase their online presence;
- are looking for a more personalised experience than they get from an agency or larger company;
- are ready to make some changes, but aren't sure where or how to start.
